Re: 2021 Staten Island Community Board Report

The Office of the Staten Island Borough President issues the following report on Staten Island's 3 Community Boards in 2021 fiscal year. This report is made pursuant to the provisions of New York City Charter § 82(17)(a). The demographic information contained in this report reflects information from the tenure of former Borough President James S. Oddo (2014- Present). Further, demographic information provided was collected from any member who replied to the Borough President's request for such demographic information pursuant to the provisions of New York City Charter § 82(17)(a).

Throughout its tenure, the former Borough President's administration appointed dozens of benevolent individuals to represent their communities on Staten Island's 3 Community Boards. Informed, civically engaged members who represent the diversity of New Yorkers will help make community boards more responsive, fair, and inclusive of the communities they serve. This administration is committed to continuing these appointments.

Diversification, undoubtedly, broadens effectiveness of Staten Island's community boards. It is the Borough President's goal to ensure that its local community boards are representative of diverse perspectives and opinions. SIBP, therefore, works with District 49, 50, & 51 Council Members to discuss prospective board members, seek recommendations, and encourage them to promote Community Board service within their respective districts. Additionally, Staten Island Community Board Organizations (CBOs) and non-profits are another avenue leading to candidates of diverse perspectives and opinions.

All 2021 appointments were first-time members, reflecting the Borough President's commitment to keep a current and diverse group of voices that represent all segments of the island's flourishing communities. Due to the ongoing Covid-19 pandemic and the incoming of a new administration, 2021 appointments were somewhat limited. However, we look forward to appointing various civic minded members in the future.

Borough President's Recruitment Efforts

Outreach Efforts & Methods used to seek candidates from diverse backgrounds pursuant to § 82(17)(a)(iv) :

The Staten Island Borough President's Office ("SIBP") community board applications are posted year-round under the "Resources – Community Interest" tab found on <https://www.statenislandusa.com>. SIBP has used its Facebook page; official website; and Staten Island's local newspaper – the Staten Island Advance – to solicit applications for its three community boards. In addition, SIBP sponsored events have become another method of direct outreach. SIBP's annual Direct Connect, for example, is an outreach effort in which SIBP seeks to engage with constituents who may have interests in serving on a community board. SIBP's Direct Connect is hosted in a different community board district each year and provides the Borough President and staff the opportunity to leverage its ongoing relationships with residents and encourage them to apply, be active, and involved in their community.

Diversification, undoubtedly, broadens effectiveness of Staten Island's community boards. It is the Borough President's goal to ensure that its local community boards are representative of diverse perspectives and opinions. SIBP, therefore, works with District 49, 50, & 51 Council Members to discuss prospective board members, seek recommendations, and encourage them to promote Community Board service within their respective districts. Additionally, Staten Island Community Board Organizations (CBOs) and non-profits are another avenue leading to candidates of diverse perspectives and opinions. CBOs and non-profits, based throughout the various community board districts, have their own network of members and communities which they serve. SIBP, when it meets with local CBOs and non-profits, therefore, attempts to tap into their respective networks by requesting each to spread the word and encourage community board membership to the communities they serve.

The Borough President believes the more people of more varied backgrounds and specialized skills, who are engaged, the better. SIBP's community board application includes questions seeking the voluntary disclosure of demographic information as required by the New York City Charter. The aforementioned update reinforces and highlights the mission of SIBP to ensure that Staten Island's community boards proportionately represent the demographics of the area in which they serve.

Evaluation Criteria for Open Positions pursuant to § 82(17)(a)(vii):

The first consideration for appointment is whether the candidate is eligible for appointment under the provisions of New York City Charter § 2800(a). If the applicant is eligible, then the applicant is evaluated holistically based on information provided in the written application and in the interview

A. Core Competencies

SIBP seeks to build a board that, as a body, exercises essential competencies. Some competencies, for example, are strategic thinking and decision making; passion for local government and Staten Island; and connecting capabilities (ability to identify and develop relationships & networks). Core competencies are integral to community boards to develop recommendations to City agencies as well as initiate their own plans for the growth of Staten Island communities. Core competencies, therefore, play a role in deciding the future of Staten Island.

B. Location

SIBP seeks to ensure each community board's areas are proportionately represented in each Staten Island board. Thus, when a vacancy arises, SIBP and District Council Members seek to immediately fill the vacancy with a community member who is from the same area as the individual who previously held the position. If a Community Board 3 vacancy was previously held by a resident of Oakwood, for example, SIBP would, if the applicant pool contained an individual from Oakwood and he/she met SIBP's criteria, would be appointed to fill the vacancy.

C. Specific Expertise/ Experience

SIBP believes individuals with specific knowledge and skills are an integral asset to the functional committees of Staten Island community boards. Special skills or knowledge of particular topic strengthens community board discussions to navigate the particularly difficult challenges, problems, and decisions community boards need to make. Consider the following examples. An applicant who is an architect or engineer can serve on a land use committee, where there is a need, and add specific knowledge to discussions surrounding proposals that include zoning changes, special permits, development of property by New York City, etc. A candidate who is proficient in another language would be helpful in serving various aspects of community board operations and organizing. Lastly, someone with experience in community activism assist with community board youth committees as well as foster connections to areas of the community districts that have not been previously tapped. Specific expertise/experiences, therefore, is impactful – it can determine the choice of methodology a community board uses as well as foster meaningful community connections.
