

“It originally started in terms of quality-of-life issues and making us even more efficient in addressing them, but as we learned about the technology and as we got deeper into this, we realized this can be the go-to app for all things Staten Island.”

Have a problem? It can be solved with the click of a button through our mobile app. It's called BP Assist, and was created by our office in late 2014 to allow Staten Island residents and visitors to quickly report quality-of-life issues. Potholes, litter, graffiti, whatever the problem, your report will be instantly transmitted to the Borough President's Help Line and then directed to the appropriate agency for remedial action.

Our office also uses the app to send out important "push" notifications, such as street closures and emergency alerts. The app also has additional useful information, including important phone numbers, an event calendar, and the Ferry schedule.

Since its inception, nearly 6,000 people have downloaded the app and hundreds of issues have been resolved as a result.

Download the app on the App Store, Google Play, or at stateninsula.com/bpassist

We are a big believer here at Borough Hall in utilizing technology to its fullest extent, and we are excited to offer this app to our constituents.
